This is the 3rd area meeting to be held at the American College of Building Arts in Charleston, S.C. This is America's only four year liberal arts college focused on developing the minds and hands of traditional building artisans. The college is located in the Old Jail Building which is something to see in itself. Please bring good and reasonably priced usable tools to sell or donate to the students. The school will accept all donations of tools and like items.

Coffee, soft drinks and donuts will be provided.

This meeting will be held outside. Please bring your own tent and tables. There will a couple of extra tents.

April 11 is also an open house for the college. They will be hosting the public with demonstrations by the students and tours of the old jail.
